A New Obstacle.

The old obstacles that used to prevent the marriage of loving couples are out of date. The blood-and-thunder villain is a myth nowadays. The cruel father is only a tradition. Distance, absence and shipwreck in these days of cheap, safe and swift transportation do not count. The new obstacle is a common sense one. It is ill-health on one side or the other, and sometimes on both.

Men nowadays hesitate to marry a woman, no matter how beautiful, no matter how attractive, or interesting, or witty, if she is a sufferer from ill-health. All men worth having desire happy, healthy children. Any woman who will, may fit herself for the duties of wifehood and the exalted function of motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription banishes all hindrance in the nature of local ill-health. It gives health, power and capacity to the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and maternity. It corrects all displacements, allays inflammation, heals ulceration, stops exhausting drains and soothes pain. It prepares for natural, healthy motherhood. It makes maternity easy and safe and all most painless. It insures a new-comer constitutionally strong and able to withstand the usual ills of babyhood. It is the greatest of nerve tonics and restoratives. Medicine dealers sell it and an honest dealer will not urge a substitute upon you. "After suffering untold tortures," writes Mrs. J. Ferguson, of Box 30, Douglas Station, Selkirk, Montana, "I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and sure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

The profit side of life is health. The balance is written in the rich, red, pure blood of health. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and make the blood rich and pure. They purify the blood.

Hearn's Vivid Imagination.

Many years ago Lafcadio Hearn was a reporter on the staff of a Cincinnati newspaper. One day a famous steeple climber was going to scale the spire of the cathedral to repair the cross that topped the spire 300 feet above the sidewalk. The afternoon he first scaled the spire thousands of people watched him breathlessly as he slowly made his way up the outside of the steeple. Of course no one was interviewed, and he said boastfully that the task was so easy that he could just as well carry a man up on his back.

That noon Hearn said timidly to his city editor that he had read of the steeple climber's offer and would be glad to ascend the spire on his back. The editor tried to point out to Hearn the peril of the thing, but he would not listen. Finally the steeple climber and Hearn arranged their end of the feat.

At the appointed time Hearn mounted the steeple climber's shoulders, and the dizzy journey began. Tens of thousands of people watched the foolhardy pair. At last the cross was reached, and Hearn left his perch on the climber's shoulders. The mob in the streets below cheered, and then the two men returned to the ground safely.

Hearn went back to the office and sat down and wrote two columns of a story describing his sensations, and the glories of the view he had obtained from the steeple top. Such a glowing description of a city seen from a great height has never been read before or since. The most interesting thing about it was the fact that Hearn was so near sighted he could not see five feet beyond the tip of his nose.—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Sorrowful Tree.

There is a tree in Persia to which the name "the sorrowful tree" is given. Perhaps because it blossoms only in the evening.

When the first star appears in the heavens the first bud of the sorrowful tree opens, and as the shades of night advance and the stars thickly stud the sky the buds continue gradually opening until the whole tree looks like one immense white flower. On the approach of dawn, when the brilliancy of the stars gradually fades in the light of day, the sorrowful tree closes its flowers, and ere the sun is fully risen not a single blossom is visible. A sheet of flower dust as white as snow covers the ground around the foot of the tree, which seems blighted and withered during the day, while, however, it is actively preparing for the next nocturnal festival. The fragrance of the blossoms is like that of the evening primrose.

If the tree is cut down close to the roots, a new plant shoots up and attains maturity in an incredibly short time.

In the vicinity of this singular tree there usually grows another, which is almost an exact counterpart of the sorrowful tree, but less beautiful, and, strange to say, it blossoms only in the daytime.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Bride With Some Good Points.

Some years ago in an agricultural district there lived a farmer who wanted to sell one of his cows. There was not at that time a weekly paper in which he could advertise, so he resolved to follow a local custom and ask the vicar of the parish when giving out his notices at church to advertise the cow. "Yes, farmer," said the vicar, "I should be willing to oblige you, but you don't attend my church."

Presently, however, they struck a bargain that the vicar should advertise the cow, and the man in return promised to go to church.

Now, unfortunately the man was dead, and on the Sunday following when the vicar gave out the bans of marriage between Joseph So-and-so, bachelor, and Sarah So-and-so, spinster, the farmer took it for granted that the vicar was giving out particulars of his cow and shouted out:

"You might as well say while you are about it that she is a most gentle creature and entirely free from vice." —Stray Stories.

POISONED WEAPONS.

HOW SAVAGE NATIONS MAKE SURE OF DEALING DEATH.

Some of the Venomous Mixtures Used by the Barbarians Retain their Life Destroying Properties For an Indefinite Time.

From the age of stone up to the time when the art of killing one's neighbor led to the discovery of powder and firearms primitive peoples, owing to the insufficiency of their weapons to cause prompt death, have invented means of giving them poisonous qualities. Poisoned weapons, whether they are arrows, knives, lances or what not, may get their fatal properties from either vegetable or animal poisons.

The South American Indians use curare, the natives of India, Indo-China, Borneo and the Moluccas employ, or rather did employ, the upas to poison their weapons; the negroes of the Sudan and the Kongo still make use of a poison extracted from different varieties of strophanthus called m'boumou or ine, according to the regions where it is employed; the people of South Africa, the Hottentots, the Bushmen, the Kaffirs and the Akkas, poison their arrows with the venom of divers serpents, the cobra de capello among others; certain tribes of equatorial Africa, the N'Dris and the Banjiris, use their arrows after long burial in decomposing corpses, to communicate blood poisoning, which results in speedy death; in Oceania the natives of New Caledonia, the Hebrides and the Solomon group give their enemies lockjaw by soaking their arrows, in marshes containing large quantities of the bacillus of tetanus.

The first three kinds of poison are practically of vegetable origin, though the local medicine men mix with their preparations red ants, snakes' venom, toads' eyes, etc. They are the characteristic alkaloids of plants, which serve as the basis of a deadly poisonous mixture. Curare, upas and m'boumou have as their principal elements plants whose species vary with the tribe, and which all belong to the strychnine family. The three last named poisons, except that of the South African negroes, are of microbial origin.

What are the value, duration and activity of these poisons? Curare keeps indefinitely. In 1757 in the course of experiments in physiology made in France with curarized arrows brought in 1752 from equatorial America by La Coudamine, a fowl scratched with one of these arrows died in seven minutes. Among the Oniteto Indians, lumps of curare handed down from father to son have preserved all their poisonous activity, although covered with mold. The same may be said for the upas, which, kept in little sections of bamboo for seven or eight years, retains the same active qualities as when freshly prepared. Malay weapons, even those of steel, always keep their poisonous properties.

The black races that use ine claim that it will keep only a short time before it spoils. Now, ine, which is an aqueous maceration of strophanthus seeds, to which is added the juice of a fig or of a euphorbia, and generally also vipers' venom, becomes covered with mold at the end of a few weeks, but notwithstanding it has preserved all its toxic properties. Guinea pigs have been killed in a few minutes by being scratched with arrows whose points had molded. In fact, the vegetable poisons used by primitive peoples for their arrows keep indefinitely and always make effective weapons.

This is not the case with poisons of animal or microbial origin. As we have seen above, the Bushmen, the Kaffirs and the Akkas poison the points of their arrows with serpent venom, especially that of the cobra. At the end of two or three weeks their arms have lost all harmful quality. This is due to a single cause. The venom of snakes, which is preserved indefinitely in alcohol, becomes covered in air with a peculiar mold, which has not been studied hitherto and which removes all poisonous effect from the venom.

The poison used on the arrows of the N'Dris of the Upper Ubanghi is nothing else than the septic vibrio (microbe of blood poisoning), which dies in the air if it is not in the presence of decomposition. Thus those arrows are harmful only during a very short time. As for the arrows of the New Caledonians, which infect their victim with tetanus, authorities do not agree about the duration of their harmful action, although it is proved that the bacillus of Nicolaier cannot live except in a very moist medium and together with other bacilli, harmless or otherwise, such as the septic bacillus, which, as we have seen, dies in a short time.

Thus in all cases the poisoned arrows of the races that make use of vegetable alkaloids are much more to be feared than those of the tribes that employ poisons of animal or microbial origin.

A Hasty Reply.

"What'll I do with this lot of raw recruits?" asked the Pacific Islander. "Raw recruits?" echoed the chief absently. "What's the use of bothering me with such foolish questions? Turn 'em over to the cook!" Washington Star.

DEMOCRATS IN TROUBLE.

Democrats are exercised in mind and body over imperialism in the Philip pines. The larger number believe that expansion of authority by the govern ment to the islands will be the begin ning of imperialistic power by the United States, which they believe should be avoided by the use of every means possessed by the people. It is not our intention to discuss at present the truth or error included in the con tention above outlined, but it would be well perhaps for Democrats and the people at large, without regard to party lines, to think over and well consider for the purpose of ascertaining if the principle included in imperialism, as the term is used for present political uses, is not largely upon the American people at home, and that it is not necessary to go to the Philippines to begin the work of imperialism.

The beginning of imperialism, so called, in the United States was made in 1873, when silver was demonetized through fraud by a United States Congress. Then the work was entered upon that has steadily progressed since that time. Without going into devel opments that have been made in the last twenty-five years, that makes a record of imperialism and reveals the plot entered into by the leaders of the Republican party with the money power of the world, that will, if carried to its ultimate conclusion, destroy the republic and the grand system of gov ernment intended to secure and per petuate the liberties of the American people, we find the fact.

It is not pleasant to dwell upon these threatenings against the grand govern ment structure we love so well; but as we see and learn from the development of the plot the deep laid plan, wrapped in cunning and secrecy, to imperialize the United States government and crush the liberties of the people by giving to the money power complete dominion over their industries and labor, and, through their labor and industries, full power over their per sons and liberties, it becomes a duty to direct attention to the schemes and plans of the money power and the efforts of those who aid it in its work of destruction of the grand fabric of individual liberty which has aston ished the world and caused the enmity of monarchical and military power everywhere.

The citizen who has knowledge of the great wrong that is sought to be applied to the United States by the money power and remains silent at a time when the foundation of liberty's sublime structure is assailed by an enemy almost all powerful in the affairs of man, and who has the means to induce the avaricious and the vile to aid in enslaving man and enslaving liberty with all of its beneficent gifts to man, is unworthy to receive and have the right given by a free govern ment to a free people.

The extension of authority by the United States to the Philippines has done more to illustrate the real pur pose of the money power and lay it bare to inspection and investigation than all else that has occurred since 1873.

The money power is determined to complete its undertaking to destroy the liberties of the people of the United States if money will accomplish the end in view, and those who believe that Colonel Bryan will be elected President of the United States at the November election in 1900, are build ing their hopes over a volcano that will be turned into the money power to consume with its fires in gold the honesty, integrity and liberties of the American people.

It is not our intention to discourage but to direct the intention of our read ers to the character of the people, and more particularly the Democrats among them, will have to meet.

Silver in its freedom as a money metal is a factor that will defeat the object of Mammon in the United States, and in the world, and for that reason the money power, aided by British and American gold, will make a supreme effort to overcome the will of the American people in the interest of the money trust, whose purpose is as debasing as the means that will be used to do the work. Do not conclude for a moment, and should you do so, you will lose the moment when it could be used to a better purpose, that the money trust will not make greater effort in 1900 than it made in 1896. What is most needed is a knowledge by the people of the size of the ques tion before them for settlement.

Lovelock expects to soon have electric lights.

LOVELOCK SUGAR BEETS.

This scribe made a short visit yester day to the University to look upon some sugar beets from Lovelock. Professor McDowell kindly described the mode of culture to procure the best results in sugar properties from the beet, giving in detail for a short time his observation and experience in beet culture, all of which was very interest ing and instructive.

At the request of Professor Wilson we entered his department for work in chemical annals, where we were in structed in the science of sugar mak ing from sugar beet properties.

In the first lesson we received from Professor Wilson we were made to un derstand that it was necessary that a beet should have a certain style to en title it to consideration. A beet that gets itself up upon the style and form of a short, fat man will receive no con sideration as a sugar producer, but a beet that gets itself up upon the style and form of a tall, slender gentleman is entitled to have and receive scien tific consideration and scientific care, because it is within the line of scien tific work as a sugar producer, which information was slightly embarrassing as we had been under the belief that nature was not a respecter of persons and why it should be of beets was a problem to solve had we been allowed the time to do so.

The professor, at the close of the first lesson, put a student at work grinding some very stylish and genteel looking beets, the juice of which was pressed out, and then the chemical processes were applied, within a very few minutes from the beginning of the chemical work it was completed.

When the chemical work was finished the test process registered a fraction more than twenty per cent of sugar, which per cent is not found in the sugar beets of many countries. The JOURNAL extends its thanks to the professors for their kindness.

"Could blow the wintry blasts" last night. The winds were out for a time and they had it. Sign boards lit out for the next block, awnings were torn and scratched from the buildings, while trees were uprooted in some in stances and in many cases were stripped of leaves and branches.

The worst result from the storm was the crossing of electric wires. In several places around town trees were set on fire by the rampant wind. The danger of a conflagration increased until at 11 o'clock word was dispatched to the electric light works to shut off the current.

CONVENTION

Annual Session Held in Car son Monday.

OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

Full Report of the Transactions of the '99 Meet ing.

The annual convention of the State Red Cross Association for ninety-nine was held in Carson, Tuesday, Oct. 17th.

There are at present five local so cieties in the State, three of which sent delegates to the convention. As was remarked by one of our statesmen, "This is the State of magnificent dis tance," it was impossible for the uttermost points to send representa tives, though they are just as zealous in the work.

The reports read showed that the good work of the Red Cross has not waned. Many of our boys have been brought through illness and from dis pair to hope during the last year by the aid of the State society. A member of Capt. Cox's company was helped back to health and afterwards re-en listed and went to Cuba. Another member who contracted disease, was unable to work, and had no one to whom he could look for assistance, was, just as despair seized him, bright ened by a gift from the Red Cross. A member of the convention said, "Is not that one soul brought back to life re ward enough for all the work done?"

The reception of the Nevada Volun teers was enthusiastically discussed by all present. The ladies signified their desire to assist in the arrangements for the boys' return. It was the gen eral opinion that wherever a Red Cross Society existed they should, if they did not take the lead, urge the citizens on to work. All expressed themselves as opposed to having the boys parade to entertain the people, but to reverse the things and have a platform built on which the boys might sit and the people give a torch light procession for them to look at. One person suggested and all coin cided, "How nice it would be if the Dramatic Club of Reno would repeat their play for the boys when they re turn."

The financial report of the State so ciety for the year beginning Oct. 18, 1898, the date of the last convention, shows the amount on hand as follows:

Two of their companions, who con fessed to receiving stolen goods, were given fifteen days each.

Another Honey Shipment.

Hash & Hicks have shipped their fourth and last solid carload of honey. It was consigned to New York. There are still a few broken lots to be marketed but there is less than a car load remaining in this part of the State.

General Grant's Suggestion.

An official who quite generally knows what he is talking about was dilating the other afternoon upon the funny hopelessness for all reasonable purposes of many of the little creeks and rivers for the "improvement" of which con gress is asked to appropriate money un der the river and harbor bill.

"When Grant was president," said this official, "he used to alternately chuckle and frown against the ex penditure of good government coin for the 'improvement' of measly little streams that he himself knew could never be made fit for any human pur pose. There was a Virginian who, fail ing to get congress to stick in an ap propriation for the dredging of a little stream down in his section, finally im portuned Grant in the matter.

"Let's see," said Grant musingly, "I believe I crossed that stream in 1864, wasn't it?"

"The Virginian, who remembered Grant's crossing of the stream, replied affirmatively.

"Look here," said Grant after a pause, his face lighting up suddenly, "why don't you macadamize it?"— Washington Post.

Told of Daniel Boone.

"Whar yer goin'?"
"Goin west, stranger."
"When yer goin'?"
"Goin now, stranger."
"Ain't got no boat. How yer goin ter git across?"
"Boat! Thank a crick like this here's goin ter stop me? Goin ter ride cross, stranger."

He meant what he said, for the speaker was Daniel Boone, and he sat his horse, gun in hand, on the bluffs where the custom house now stands and gazed across that "crick," the mighty Mississippi, toward the west "whar he wuz goin."

This was further back than the mem ory of the oldest inhabitant of Memphis extends, but tradition says that it took ten men to hold Daniel to keep him from wading his horse across the Mis sissippi.—Memphis Scimitar.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from dreadful disease.—J. W. LYNN, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy sold by W. Pinniger.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demerit enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and the quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by W. Pinniger.

The Nevada Magazine.

Yesterday the October number of the Nevada Magazine was issued. It is bigger and better than the first two issues. The illustrations are excellent and the stories are delightful. Only one thing marred the copy we received. It had been carelessly "retained" and instead of containing the whole bill of fare there was in it a double dose of soap and no desert.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Interesting Program Rendered the First Day—Large Attendance.

The Washoe county institute was called to order in the high school building yesterday morning at 9:45 by County Superintendent Williams.

After he had made a brief but cordial address of welcome, nominations for secretary were the order of business. Miss F. Frey was chosen.

The following committees were appointed: Queries—Misses Joy, Treasler, Edmonds and Brewer and A. E. Kaye.

Resolutions—J. E. Bray, E. E. Cairne and A. E. Bugh.

"America" was sung by the audience, led by Mrs. Layton.

J. E. Monroe discussed "Parental Co-operation." He favored closer relations between teacher and parent as a means for causing greater harmony and progress in school work.

Mrs. J. K. Logan read a paper upon "Schoolroom Expedients," giving the teachers many practical hints.

Dr. Strubbe invited the teachers to attend Professor Thurtell's lecture at the University assembly. The doctor was tendered a vote of thanks, but the invitation was declined.

The papers already presented to the institute were discussed by J. E. Bray, J. E. Monroe, A. E. Bugh and Mrs. Logan.

Prof. Emery of the University presented her paper on "Child Study," illustrating her suggestions by experiments upon training school pupils.

Wm. G. Walcott gave a brief talk on "Child Study."

AFTERNOON SESSION

Institute opened with music.

A canvasser for our evening entertainment took the floor and harangued the teachers on a clubbing scheme, soliciting subscriptions thereto.

E. E. Cairne made an address on "What Results Should be Obtained from Reading and Literature." He spoke of both the practical and ethical benefits derived from a knowledge of good books.

Miss E. L. Loder's paper on "Reading in the Primary Grade" was next on the program. The paper advanced practical ideas, experiences and suggestions.

Miss Flora Northrup in her paper on "Reading in the Grammar Grade," emphasizing upon the importance of this branch in the school curriculum. She did not favor the usual parrot-like recitations, but advocated "wise reading."

Miss Kate Kinney, in a paper upon the same subject, said: "Of all subjects taught in the grammar school, reading furnishes the strongest hold for moral training."

Mrs. Doan read a paper on "Reading in the High School." She claimed that the literature of the ancient authors was of far more aid to the student of literature than the material furnished us by recent writers.

"Reading and Literature in Correlation with Other Work" was Prof. L. W. Chisholm's subject. He said that reading and literature may be correlated with the study of geography, history, nature study, grammar, composition and morals.

Mr. Bangh continued the discussion of this subject, paying a high tribute to the value of choice literature as a means of rounding out character and imbuing with high ideals.

Misses Bray, Monroe and Cairne participated with others in a general discussion of this subject.

Owing to bad lights and lack of space, it was impossible to give an account of the evening session until tomorrow.

A Dandy Fig.

Er d Morrill has just completed a tri-cycle for Stewart & Miles, which promises to be one of the neatest and handiest arrangements for the quick and noiseless delivery of goods yet introduced in Reno. The running gear is of the same pattern used on bicycles and between the two back wheels a box has been placed which will carry all the load that any retail butcher should want to carry at one time. A load of 600 pounds, which was placed in it yesterday, being carried without trouble or ill effect to the vehicle.

The who's thing was built by Mr. Morrill and speaks volumes for his ability as a mechanic.

A Epidemic of Whooping Cough.

Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for croup and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure.—JOHN E. CLIFFORD, Proprietor Norwood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by W. Pinniger.

Soph's Reception.

The annual reception by the Sophomore class takes place in the gymnasium this evening. Conversation, dancing and refreshments are on the program. The affair is invitation.

SOME UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL NOTES

The Lusty Lads Are Training Hard for Their Tussle With Santa Clara.

The game between Santa Clara and U. of N. will take place Saturday afternoon, October 28th.

The manager is making arrangements to run a special train from Carson and Virginia that day.

Carman and Hayes have not yet recovered from the effects of the last game, but it is expected they will be all right in a day or so.

Arrangements are being made to have bleachers on the hill for the next game.

The date of the Berkeley game will, in all probability, be changed from the 13th to the 4th of November.

Trainer Ryan says the men are not doing work enough to get in condition, and consequently he will give them indoor work every evening in the gym from 7 to 8.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM CONFLAGRATION

Crossing of Electric Light Wires Nearly Caused Trouble Last Night.

R. Herz & Bro. had a narrow escape from fire last evening about 7:40 just before they closed for the night.

The electric wires suddenly became red hot and melted the insulation off of them and filled the room with smoke from the cloth and tar with which the wires are covered.

The wires were severed with a file, preventing further damage.

It is presumed the wires became crossed with those of another circuit during the high wind causing a double double voltage. Had the accident occurred a few moments later there would undoubtedly have been a destructive conflagration.

I can now eat anything and I have new lease on life." Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Secretary of Commission.

The Paris World's Fair Commission for Nevada has organized by choosing Mr. Y. H. H. of Carson Chairman, Col. Maxson of Reno, Secretary, and Mr. Dooley of De Lamar, Treasurer. Col. Maxson stated to a JOURNAL reporter that the Associated Press dispatches sent from here error in stating that a Mrs. Williams had been appointed Secretary. Mrs. Williams was simply given an honorary position—press corresponding secretary, or something of that sort.

WHEN THE SHIP SAILS IN

With Our Volunteers on Board,

THEY'LL BE WELCOMED

The Nevada Colony in San Francisco Will Attend to That.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—An enthusiastic meeting of the Nevada Colony was held in the city hall tonight and arrangements were made to give our soldiers a genuine Nevada welcome when their ship comes in.

The program is still in chaotic condition but this much is settled:

A vessel will be chartered and the transport met as soon as possible after it is sighted.

There will be a cherry greeting given and messages and presents from home will be transferred to the transport.

As soon as the boys land they will be given a royal banquet in the ferry building.

At this meeting a resolution was passed requesting the citizens of Nevada to co-operate with the colony in the San Francisco reception. Gov. Sadler and others will receive special invitations to be present.

BREVITIES.

The Twentieth Century Club will meet a week from Saturday, having been postponed on account of the teachers' institute.

The Central Pacific is now running a free chair car on its accommodation trains.

A representative of the faculty of the University of Nevada will attend the inauguration of President Benjamin Ide Wheeler at Berkeley next week.

The Supreme Court has approved H. C. Outing's digest of the laws of Nevada.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land which is not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are rarely cured by it.

Call on S. J. Hodgkinson, Druggist, and get a trial bottle. Regular size, 50 cents; and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

Will be at the River side.

Dr. O. N. Sullivan will be at the River-side Hotel from October 20th until October 25th. Wrong glasses will ruin the strongest eyes. If you have eye trouble or suffer from headache, and need glasses, fitted as they should be, Dr. Sullivan is the one you should see. Examination free. 10 18 f
